St. Julian Winery: St. Julian has been owned and operated by the same family for four generations. Their passion for local farms, 100% Michigan fruit, and the production of quality wine and juice has been upheld for over 100 years. This long-term commitment to quality fruit from Michigan has made them the most-awarded winery in Michigan.

Russell Stover Chocolates: An American classic since 1923. Russell Stover chocolates are still handcrafted in small batches, using original recipes created by company founder, Clara Stover, in the kitchen in her Denver bungalow home.

Flying Otter Winery: This family operated vineyard and winery is the culmination of a life long love of wine. They stay focused on the basics – sustainable vineyard practices using a great deal of hand labor, starting with the planting of the vine until the grapes are harvested. This hands on approach and attention to detail allows the production of the best quality grapes that can be locally grown. You can't make great wine unless you start with great grapes.

Chateau Aeronautique Winery: In 2008, Lorenzo Lizarralde, international airline pilot, founded Chateau Aeronautique Winery in his hangar on a grass runway handcrafting fine wines from Michigan grapes.

Enjoy 4 tastings at each winery.
