For your information. . . this is "The King of all flower shows" - Better Homes and Gardens Magazine
 This is also America's most acclaimed flower show featuring world class exhibits, social events, gardener's and plant markets and a lecture series. The Cincinnati Flower Show is the only North American flower and garden show endorsed by the Royal Horticultural Society of Great Britain, producer of the world renowned Chelsea Flower Show. That is important!! If you want to read some press releases on the show go to www.cincyflowershow.com and click on media, then press releases. The show is taking place at a new venue this year. Our itinerary is listed on the reverse side.

Itinerary:

Tuesday, April 20, 2010

Depart early for the Northern Area of Cincinnati. The first stop is at the Secret Garden in Waynesville, home of the Sauerkraut Festival in the Fall. Let's go there again sometime. For a truly unique experience walk the brick pathways through the wooded garden while soft music fills the air. The Secret Garden offers a wide variety of unique garden art. Find concrete statuary, wrought iron, pieces, gazing globes, and much much more. There is a Bird House area and a Chapel in the Woods. There are lots of things for sale. The Secret Garden

Our lunch stop is at the Hammel House Inn www.hammelhouseinn.com which is a former stage coach stop located in downtown Waynesville. The traveling public has experienced the hospitality of bed and board at this location since 1799 and you will also enjoy having lunch here. Don't forget to browse the gift shop for fine reproductions, antiques, home accessories and lots more things.

Continue with our garden theme by visiting Burtons Bamboo Gardens.
www.burtonsbamboogarden.com

In addition to the many plants at bamboo gardens you will see exotic animals and be amazed at the many products made of bamboo. This is a tour like no other. Learn the history of bamboo in America as well as many items made from bamboo such as flooring, clothing, music, and the latest craze—"bamboo bricks!"

Today ends with a winery tour and a "grill your own steak" dinner at Valley Vineyards Winery. Experience a legendary Valley Vineyards cook-out, their most popular feature. Both indoor and outdoor grilling venues are provided where you can cook and socialize with friends. A few years ago Custom Holidays visited this winery but did not do the cookout. The report came back that we should really do that sometime. So, the time has come for a fun meal. You may choose salmon or steak paired with some wine, two types of salad, green beans almondine, baked potato, fresh breads and their special homemade dessert buffet. Yum! Yum!

Wednesday, April 21, 2010

Our day begins with a leisurely breakfast at the hotel and moving on to the Cincinnati Flower Show at Symmes Park in Loveland, OH. www.cincyflowershow.com The recommended time is 3-4 hours there. You will have time to visit the booths, the exhibits, make some purchases of plants and/or plant and flower related merchandise and grab a quick bite to eat. Rest your feet for a little while as you travel to Jungle Jim's International Market. www.junglejims.com This is a food lovers paradise. No matter what you call it, Jim's is arguably the nation's most unique supermarket megastore, featuring more than six acres of food, bakery, cookware, gifts of distinction and much more. Unbelievable displays and tastes make this a delight for friends and foodies alike. Over 50,000 people a week visit for the unique shopping experience. You can buy food from over 70 countries, listen to Elvis and Mariachi music, sample tasty foods, get red hot deals, and of course have fun.

Around 3:30 pm head for home with a box lunch arriving home before 8 pm. Get your new friends phone number so you can meet them on another Custom Holidays tour.
